Overarching Series Thesis

Because Jesus Christ is the exalted Lord and supreme treasure who sovereignly works in His people, believers are called to cultivate a God-glorifying, unshakable joy by standing firm in ecclesial unity, pursuing sacrificial and virtuous obedience, and pressing on together as citizens of heaven until the day of His return.

Executive Introduction & Series Framework

The Epistle to the Philippians is far more than a warm letter of personal affection; it is a rigorous, Spirit-inspired blueprint for Christian maturity, corporate unity, and Christ-centred perseverance amidst suffering. Across twenty-four expositional sermons delivered at Cross Cultured Church, Mysore, in 2026, this study guide systematically unfolds Paul's letter.

Rather than treating joy as an elusive emotion or a product of favourable circumstances, Scripture establishes that true Christian joy is grounded in an unshakeable, sovereign reality: the Lordship of Jesus Christ and the unstoppable advancement of His Gospel.

The Five-Part Structural Flow

The sermon series moves through five overarching thematic movements, tracing Paul’s argument from his opening greeting to his final benediction:

1. Part I: The Lordship of Christ, Divine Grace, and Gospel Partnership (Phil 1:1–11)
2. Part II: Magnifying Christ in Life or Death and Living Worthy of the Gospel (Phil 1:12–30)
3. Part III: The Mind of Christ, Visibly Ecclesial Unity, and Sacrificial Service (Phil 2:1–30)
4. Part IV: Christ Our Supreme Treasure, Pressing On, and Heavenly Citizenship (Phil 3:1–21)

5. Part V: Standing Firm, Sanctified Thoughtfulness, Contentment, and Gospel Stewardship (Phil 4:1–23)

Part I: The Lordship of Christ, Divine Grace, and Gospel Partnership (Philippians 1:1–11)

1. The Lordship of Christ (doulos vs. kyrios) — Jan 4, 2026

Paul opens his letter designating himself and Timothy as doulos—servants or slaves—of Christ Jesus. This rare salutation (used only in Philippians, Romans, and Titus) contrasts with his usual self-designation as an "apostle." Choice implies meaning: Paul establishes at the outset that his entire identity, authority, and life agenda are completely subject to his Master.

The title Lord (kyrios) carries a dual theological significance in the New Testament:

- Explicit Divinity: In the Septuagint (LXX), kyrios was used by Jewish translators to translate the divine name YHWH. When New Testament writers call Jesus Lord, they identify Him explicitly as the eternal God, Creator, and Sustainer of heaven and earth.
- Implicit Messianic Session: Kyrios refers to the exalted human Messiah seated at the right hand of God the Father, fulfilling Psalm 110:1 ("The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at my right hand, until I put your enemies under your feet'"). Psalm 110 is cited or alluded to 21 times in the New Testament, marking the decisive heavenly session where all authority in heaven and earth is given to the incarnate, resurrected King.

Because Jesus is Lord now, a Christian's primary allegiance cannot belong to family expectations, cultural traditions, or career ambitions. To confess "Jesus is Lord" is a present, governing reality that dictates unconditional allegiance in daily life.

2. Church Polity and "Mistaken Brothers" — Jan 11, 2026

In Philippians 1:1, Paul addresses "all the saints in Christ Jesus who are at Philippi, with the overseers (episkopois) and deacons (diakonois)." This text, among others, teaches that Scripture recognises only two official church offices: elders (also termed presbyters, overseers, pastors, or shepherds) and deacons.

The historical emergence of a threefold hierarchy—where a single monarchical bishop (episkopos) ruled over a diocese of presbyters—can be traced back to early church fathers like Ignatius of Antioch (c. AD 110), whereas earlier writings like 1 Clement (c. AD 96) made no distinction between bishop and presbyter. Fourth-century manuscripts written in scriptio continua (without spaces between words) led commentators like John Chrysostom to read syn episkopois as "fellow-bishops," reinforcing established episcopal structures.

Doctrinal Error Category	Structural & Theological Scope	Relation to Fellowship & Church Body
First-Order Errors	Denies core gospel truths (e.g., Deity of Christ).	Excludes one from salvation (Heresy/Separation).
Second-Order Errors	Wrong interpretation of secondary practices (e.g., Polity, Baptism).	Treated as "mistaken brothers" in distinct local bodies.

Third-Order Differences	Minor conscience differences (e.g., Dietary practices).	Respected and accommodated within the same local church.

Churches practising different government structures or infant baptism are wrong according to Scriptural prescription, but they are not Heretics. They are to be treated as "mistaken brothers and sisters" within the one holy catholic church, bought by the blood of Jesus.

3. The Nature of Unmerited Grace — Jan 18, 2026

Christian grace (charis) is fundamentally distinct from pagan notions of divine favour. In pagan mythology (e.g., King Agamemnon sacrificing his daughter Iphigenia at Aulis to appease Artemis and secure favourable winds), favour is earned through human sacrifice and emotional manipulation of mercurial gods.

Biblical grace, revealed in Exodus 34:6–7, flows entirely from God's unchanging, immutable nature. God is blessed (purely happy and self-sufficient); He does not change when He shows favour or executes wrath. Analysing grace through the four classical causes clarifies its divine origin:

Cause Type	Philosophical Question	Theological Reality in Divine Grace
Material Cause	What is it made of?	Not applicable (Grace is a divine disposition, not a physical substance).
Efficient Cause	What brought it into being?	God alone. Human actions or merit are never the efficient cause of grace.
Formal Cause	What is its form/expression?	Our Justification, Sanctification, and Good Works produced in life.
Final Cause	What is its ultimate purpose?	Our Spiritual Joy and God's Eternal Glory.

Because believers are not the efficient cause of grace, its reception produces deep Godward gratitude, complete prayerful dependence (as modeled in Psalm 123), and an active pursuit of growing in grace through obedience.

4. Biblical Peace (Shalom) and Divine Reconciliation — Jan 25, 2026

True peace (shalom / eirēnē) is defined biblically as the cessation of hostility and division, the removal of disorder and discomfort, and the presence of divine harmony and security. Humanity lost threefold peace through the Fall in Genesis 3:

1. Inner Peace: Lost when Adam and Eve experienced guilt and shame over their nakedness.
2. Interpersonal Peace: Lost when blame-shifting ruptured human relations and male headship was corrupted.
3. Divine Peace: Lost when humanity was expelled from Eden under divine wrath.

God restored peace through the Lord Jesus Christ, the promised Prince of Peace (Isaiah 9:6–7, 53:4–5). Experiencing this peace requires justification (peace with God through faith), active interpersonal forgiveness, and taking internal anxiety to God in prayer so that the supernatural peace of God guards the heart and mind (Philippians 4:6–7).

5. Gospel Partnership and Doxological Praise — Feb 15, 2026

Reflecting on eighteen years of Cross Cultured Church, Paul's prayer in Philippians 1:3–11 reveals that gospel partnership (koinōnia) is not a cold financial transaction or mere charitable relief; it is a shared spiritual participation in the grace of Christ.

As John Piper notes, how a believer uses money does not earn eternal life, but it confirms where the heart rests—whether in wealth or in God's promises. Furthermore, C.S. Lewis observes in Reflections on the Psalms that praise and thanksgiving are not empty compliments; praise is "inner health made audible" that completes the enjoyment of a valued object. True gospel partnership produces three distinct spiritual fruits in leaders and members:

- Godward Gratitude: Directing all thankfulness to God as the ultimate source of good.
- Joyful Supplication: Praying for others' progress and purity with genuine delight.
- Affectionate Yearning: Loving fellow believers with the very affection of Christ Jesus.

6. Defending the Gospel and Engaging Culture — Feb 22, 2026

In Philippians 1:7, Paul speaks of his imprisonment for the "defence (apologia) and confirmation (bebaiōsis) of the gospel." While historical preachers like C.H. Spurgeon interpreted this as general preaching against error, 20th-century papyrological discoveries confirm that apologia and bebaiōsis are formal legal terms referring to Paul's official trial before Roman magistrates.

The opposition Paul faced did not stem from abstract doctrines, but from the ethical demands of the Gospel: asserting that "Jesus is Lord" confronts every rival political, social, and cultural loyalty. Culture—defined as a system of beliefs, values, and behaviours—is never neutral.

Among the five classical models of church and culture (Retreat/Amish isolation, Accommodation, Subdual by force, Dualism, and Transformation), Cross Cultured Church rejects isolation, accommodation, force, and dualism, standing firmly for cultural transformation through word and deed, remaining steadfast even when magistrates oppose gospel workers.

7. Approving Excellence and Ordering Loves — Mar 1, 2026

In Philippians 1:9–11, Paul prays that love may abound "with knowledge and all discernment, so that you may approve what is excellent."

- Approve (dokimazein): Refers to the assaying of metals or testing coins to prove what is genuine.
- What is Excellent (ta diapheronta): Refers to things that possess real, surpassing worth.

Approving excellence is not a detached intellectual exercise; it is the ordering of our affections. Drawing from Augustine's City of God, created gifts (wealth, beauty, talent) are good, but to love them inordinately—above God—is to love them evilly. Knowledge and discernment train the mind to order loves correctly.

Moreover, this passage refutes the lie that divine sovereignty permits human passivity: while God guarantees the completion of His work (Phil 1:6), He completes it through our active, lived pursuit of virtue. Mediocrity is the silent killer of Christian maturity; believers must actively reject lukewarm drifting and pursue radiant holiness through Jesus Christ.

Part II: Magnifying Christ in Life or Death and Living Worthy of the Gospel (Philippians 1:12–30)

8. Hardships Fueling Gospel Expansion — Apr 12, 2026

Paul's imprisonment in Rome did not chain the Gospel; instead, it served its unexpected advancement (prokopē). First, his chains revealed to the entire Praetorian Guard that he was imprisoned for Christ, transforming his prison cell into an active evangelistic hub. Second, his suffering emboldened local believers to preach the Word fearlessly.

As John MacArthur notes, "The measure of a person's spiritual character... is what it takes to steal your joy." Paul maintained unyielding joy because his delight was not tied to comfort, reputation, or personal freedom, but strictly to the proclamation of Christ. Paul rejoices because:

1. The Gospel offers real salvation to guilty sinners.
2. The Gospel carries divine, Spirit-empowered grace to save the hearer.
3. The Gospel transforms character, turning persecutors into saints.

Believers must reject safe, "polished Christianity" and embrace fearless boldness, recognising that Christ is the sole, unshakeable ground of joy.

9. To Live is Christ, To Die is Gain — Apr 19, 2026

Wrestling with his upcoming judicial verdict, Paul presents a profound decision-making rubric in Philippians 1:19–26. He evaluates three distinct states of existence for the believer:

Existential State	Physical & Spiritual Condition	Evaluation in Philippians 1
1. Present State	Earthly life in the body; walking by faith amidst trials.	Necessary for fruitful labor (Least Good State).
2. Intermediate State	Physical death; soul departs to be in Christ's presence.	Immediate, unhindered communion ("Far Better").
3. Eternal State	Bodily resurrection at Christ's return; renewed creation.	Full glorification (Ultimate Best State).

While Paul personally preferred death because "to die is gain" (much more better), he chose to desire continued earthly life for one explicit purpose: to be the cause of the church's progress and joy in the faith.

For Paul, life implies "fruitful labour." A believer whose joy is grounded in Christ makes life decisions using a single governing principle: choosing whatever magnifies Jesus the most. As expanded in 2 Corinthians 5:1–10, walking by faith means that whether at home or away, our singular aim is to please Him.

10. Living Out Heavenly Citizenship (Politeuma) — Apr 26, 2026

In Philippians 1:27–30, Paul collapses the entire Christian life into a single governing command: “Only let your manner of life be worthy of the gospel of Christ” (keval itna karo / “just one thing”).

The verb translated “manner of life” (politeuesthai) means to “live as a citizen.” The Philippians, living in a Roman colony, understood civic duty; Paul reorients their primary citizenship to heaven (politeuma). Living worthy of the Gospel requires two military-style actions:

1. Standing Firm in One Spirit: Maintaining unified tactical solidarity.
2. Striving Side-by-Side (sunathlountes): Using ancient Spartan phalanx tactics where soldiers locked shields together. If the line broke, the battle was lost.

Unified, fearless endurance in suffering serves as a dual sign: to opponents, a sign of their destruction; to believers, a divine token of salvation granted by God (charizomai—suffering granted as a grace privilege).

Part III: The Mind of Christ, Visibly Ecclesial Unity, and Sacrificial Service (Philippians 2:1–30)

11. Like-Mindedness and Friendship of Pleasure — May 31, 2026

Philippians 2:1–4 establishes the foundation for Christian unity. Paul provides a fourfold motivation (encouragement in Christ, comfort from love, fellowship in the Spirit, affection and mercy) and a fourfold description of unity: "thinking the same thing, having the same love, united in soul, minding the one thing."

This unity is illuminated by Aristotle’s classical categorisation of friendship:

- Friendship of Utility: Based on mutual transaction or civic benefit (e.g., merchant and customer).
- Friendship of Pleasure: Based on a shared passion for an external object outside the individuals (e.g., playing cricket together).
- Friendship of Virtue: Based on mutual admiration of character.

Christian like-mindedness is the ultimate friendship of pleasure: believers bond not by forcing uniform opinions on secondary matters, but by sharing a supreme, passionate love for a single external Object—the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

12. Biblical Humility vs. Pusillanimity — Jun 7, 2026

In Philippians 2:3, Paul commands: “Do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves.” Humility (tapeinophrosynē) is not counting others higher; humility is the internal instrument by which we value others.

To define biblical humility, one must distinguish it from classical and cultural counterfeits:

Character Disposition	Relation to Virtue & Magnanimity	Social & Spiritual Impact
Pusillanimity (Deficiency)	Vice of deficiency; rejects gifts & shrinks from duty.	Useless to church & society out of false humility.
Magnanimity (Mean)	Rightly acknowledges gifts to serve for God's glory.	Useful, healthy, and constructive servant.
Vanity (Excess)	Vice of excess; demands unearned honor & praise.	Destructive, self-obsessed performance.

Pusillanimity is a vice of deficiency where a capable person falsely puts themselves down, rejects deserved praise, and refuses to serve. (The servant who hid his single talent was pusillanimous). Christian Humility, by contrast, is a foundational “creaturely virtue.” It is simply acknowledging: “I am not God; God alone is God.” True humility produces self-forgetfulness, freeing a believer from mirror-gazing so they can value others out of reverence for God.

13. Ordered Self-Love and Calibrated Interests — Jun 14, 2026

Philippians 2:4 instructs: "Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others."

In the 19th century, political liberalism and secular philosophy coined the terms “unselfishness” and “altruism” (Thomas Dixon, The Invention of Altruism). Cultural “unselfishness” falsely teaches that any self-regard or desire for personal joy is sinful. Scripture, however, never commands total “unselfishness”; it assumes self-love (“love your neighbor as yourself”) and expands that care to others.

Target Group	Scope of Calibrated Interest	Primary Objective in Christ
Unbelievers	Eternal Welfare	Gospel Proclamation & Salvation
Suffering Neighbors	Temporal Welfare	Mercy, Justice & Suffering Alleviation
Fellow Believers	Spiritual Welfare	Sanctification & Mutual Discipleship

As clarified in Philippians 2:21 (“they all seek their own interests, not those of Jesus Christ”), the “interests” we must seek for others are not trivial preferences or cultural coddling, but their welfare in Christ Jesus.

14. The Kenosis and Exaltation of Christ — Jun 21, 2026

Philippians 2:5–11 contains the famous Carmen Christi (Hymn to Christ). Paul details the two-stage movement of Christ: His Humiliation (Kenosis) and His Exaltation.

The Three Deeds of Humiliation (Phil 2:6–8)

1. Did Not Count Equality with God Something to be Grasped: Possessing eternal equality with the Father, Christ did not cling to divine privileges for self-advantage.
2. Emptied Himself: He emptied Himself not by surrendering divinity, but by addition—taking on the form of a servant (doulos) in human flesh.
3. Humbled Himself: He rendered perfect obedience to the point of death, even the shameful, cursed death of a Roman cross.

Refuting Historical Heresies

As John Chrysostom noted, this passage acts as a theological chariot that overthrows whole armies of error:

Historical Heresy	Specific False Teaching	Exegetical Refutation in Philippians 2:6–11
Arianism	Christ is a created being.	Refuted: Christ existed eternally "in the form of God."
Modalism	Father, Son, Spirit are one person.	Refuted: Christ possesses equality with God the Father.
Ebionism	Christ was a mere human.	Refuted: He pre-existed in divine form before human birth.
Kenotic Heresy	Christ surrendered His deity.	Refuted: Emptied by taking human nature, remaining God.

Because of His obedience, God highly exalted Him, bestowing on Him the name LORD (Kyrios). Fulfilling Isaiah 45:23, every knee in the cosmos will bow and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

15. Doxological Unity in the Local Church — Jun 28, 2026

Christian unity is not an abstract concept, nor can it be practiced in isolation via livestreams. Unity is visibly ecclesial—lived out within a local church body. Claiming to love Christ while despising His local church is saying, “I love the Groom, but I hate His bride.”

Enemies of unity (Selfish Ambition & Vain Conceit) must be replaced by the friend of unity (Humble-Minded Concern). When believers walk in humble-minded unity patterned after Christ's cross, it produces completed joy in the church and directs all praise to its final purpose: the glory of God.

16. Working Out Salvation (Fear and Trembling) — Aug 16, 2026

Philippians 2:12–13 addresses the relationship between faith, works, and sanctification, refuting both Legalism (earning acceptance by works) and Antinomianism (claiming obedience is unnecessary).

Dimension of Salvation	Temporal Aspect	Scriptural Reality & Verse
1. Justification	Past Aspect	“You have been saved” (Eph 2:8)
2. Sanctification	Present Aspect	“You are being saved” (1 Cor 1:18)
3. Glorification	Future Aspect	“You will be saved” (Rom 5:9)

Paul commands believers to “work out” (bring to completion), not “work for,” their present and future salvation. Works do not cause salvation, but they are the indispensable path to final glorification.

- The Manner: “With fear and trembling.” Drawing from William Perkins’s taxonomy of fear (Natural, Grace, Distrust), believers walk in godly reverential fear, which Chrysostom interprets as cheerful reverence or serious joy.
- The Ground: “For it is God who works in you, both to will and to work for his good pleasure.” God is the efficient cause (initiating the desire and the deed), and His pleasure is the final cause. God does not do 50%; God works in us, and therefore we work out.

17. Shining as Stars without Grumbling — Aug 23, 2026

Philippians 2:14 commands: “Do all things without grumbling or disputing.”

- Grumbling: Internal or whispered discontentment that turns salvation inward, asking, “Why me? Why isn’t the church doing things my way?” Unlike biblical lament (bringing grief to God), grumbling brings complaints against God.
- Disputing: Argumentative friction with others.

By eliminating grumbling, Christians become “blameless and innocent, children of God without blemish,” shining as stars (phōstēres) in a crooked and twisted generation.

Paul illustrates this non-grumbling ethic through two co-workers:

1. Timothy: Exhibited genuine concern (gnēsiōs) for others' spiritual welfare rather than seeking self-interest.
2. Epaphroditus: Sacrificed his health, nearly dying "for the work of Christ" (paraboleusamenos—risking his life), demonstrating that Christ's work is worth any personal inconvenience.

Part IV: Christ Our Supreme Treasure, Pressing On, and Heavenly Citizenship (Philippians 3:1–21)

18. Christ: Our Supreme Treasure — Aug 30, 2026

In Philippians 3:1–11, Paul issues a sharp warning against Judaizers (“dogs, evil workers, mutilators”) who placed confidence in external fleshly credentials. Paul lists his own ultimate Pharisaic resume (circumcised eighth day, tribe of Benjamin, Hebrew of Hebrews, blameless under the law), but asserts that he counted all such gain as loss (zēmia) and rubbish (skubala—dung or scraps) on account of the surpassing worth of knowing Christ Jesus.

Believers experience five foundational outcomes when treasuring Christ above all:

1. My Confidence: Putting no confidence in fleshly rituals or works.
2. My Gain: Revaluing all credentials and possessions as loss and rubbish.
3. My Righteousness: Replacing self-performance with righteousness from God based on faith (abiding in the vine, John 15).

4. My Goal: Conforming to His death (symmorphizomenos) to know Him in suffering and resurrection.
5. My Joy: Finding supreme, lasting pleasure in Christ alone.

19. Pressing On and Holy Amnesia — Sep 6, 2026

Philippians 3:12–16 presents Paul's intense spiritual discipline. The verb "press on" (diōkō) contains aggressive hunting and chasing imagery—the exact same word translated as "persecute." Paul, who once aggressively hunted believers, now passionately chases after Jesus.

Paul's pursuit rests upon three foundational certainties:

1. Christ Got Hold of Me: Christ sovereignly seized and captured Paul.
2. Upward Call & Prize: A real prize awaits in Christ—final glorification and bodily resurrection.
3. Not Yet Perfected: Complete perfection only happens when Jesus returns.

To run hard, Paul practices holy amnesia: "forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead." He refuses to dwell on past sins or coast on past achievements. As John Piper provocatively notes, while justification is unconditional, final glorification is conditional upon pressing on—persevering in the race is the appointed path to receiving the prize.

20. Awaiting a Savior from Heaven — Sep 13, 2026

In Philippians 3:17–21, Paul contrasts mature believers with "enemies of the cross of Christ." Enemies of the cross are not anti-religious activists; they are professing believers whose god is their belly (governed by earthly appetites, recalling the wilderness generation at Kibroth-hattaavah—graves of craving) and whose minds are set on earthly things.

Character Category	Belly & Appetite Relation	Mind Orientation	Final Destiny
Enemies of the Cross	God is their belly; governed by appetites.	Set on earthly things.	Destruction.
Mature Citizens	Body subjected to Christ's sovereign rule.	Citizenship in heaven (politeuma).	Bodily Transformation (metaschēmatisei).

Mature Christians live as citizens of heaven (politeuma), eagerly awaiting the Lord Jesus Christ, who will transform (metaschēmatisei) our lowly bodies to be like His glorious body through His sovereign power.

Part V: Standing Firm, Sanctified Thoughtfulness, Contentment, and Gospel Stewardship (Philippians 4:1–23)

21. Working Backwards to Overcome Anxiety — Oct 25, 2026

Philippians 4:1–7 teaches the wisdom of working backwards: because the Lord is at hand (maranatha), believers must structure present daily living in light of His imminent return and final judgment.

Paul applies this to three practical areas:

1. Stand Firm: Hold fast to faith-righteousness against false teaching.
2. Live at Peace: Exhorting Euodia and Syntyche to agree in the Lord by practising reasonableness (epieikēs—not standing on legal rights).
3. Slay Anxiety Through Prayer: Slay anxiety by trusting God's promises (Psalm 131), bringing requests with thanksgiving so that God's peace guards (phrouresei—garrison like soldiers) heart and mind.

22. The Contemplative and Active Life — Nov 1, 2026

In Philippians 4:8–9, Paul commands believers to ponder eight virtuous categories (whatever is true, honourable, just, pure, lovely, commendable, excellent, worthy of praise) and practice what they have learned.

Believers engage two distinct mental disciplines:

- Setting the Mind Above (Phroneō): Directing ultimate affection and attention to Christ in heaven (Col 3:1–2).
- Pondering Below (Logizomai): Evaluating earthly culture, art, and gifts through Christ's lens.

As illustrated in S.D. Smith's The Green Ember (where craftsmen at Cloud Mountain paint and sew to anticipate the "Mended Wood"), the contemplative life stirs holy imagination. We fight sin not just by knowledge, but by loving Jesus and anticipating the future renewal of all things.

23. Contentment and the True Meaning of Philippians 4:13 — Nov 15, 2026

Philippians 4:10–14 contains the famous declaration: "I can do all things through him who strengthens me." Textual criticism reveals that the word "Christ" was a later scribal addition in the Textus Receptus (KJV), though the reference to Jesus remains clear.

Popular culture perverts this verse as a guarantee of worldly success, financial prosperity, or physical escape from trials. Biblically, Paul uses a merism ("brought low and abounding, facing plenty and hunger") to show he learned the secret of contentment (autarkeia). The enemy defeated in Philippians 4:13 is discontentment. Christ provides inner strength so that riches do not deceive us and poverty does not embitter us.

24. Three-Way Partnership in Giving — Nov 22, 2026

Closing the letter (Phil 4:15–23), Paul addresses gospel financial support. He avoids horizontal thank-yous to the Philippians, directing all gratitude Godward.

Gospel giving is not a two-way patron-client deal; it is a three-way spiritual relationship:

1. The Giver (Philippians): Sends financial aid as a freewill offering.
2. The Worker (Paul): Receives physical support and rejoices in God.
3. God: Receives worship, a pleasing fragrant offering, thanksgiving, and glory.

When believers give to gospel ministry, God credits their heavenly account and promises to supply every temporal need according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus.

Comprehensive Glossary of Key Terms & Concepts

- Apologia (ἀπολογία): A formal legal defense before a court or magistrate (Phil 1:7).
- Autarkeia (αὐτάρκεια): Christian contentment; an internal sufficiency wrought by Christ independent of external circumstances (Phil 4:11).
- Bebaiōsis (βεβαίωσις): A legal confirmation that a defense is valid and legally established (Phil 1:7).
- Charis (χάρις): Unmerited favor; divine grace originating entirely from God's immutable nature.
- Diōkō (διώκω): To press on, pursue intensely, hunt down, or persecute (Phil 3:12, 14).
- Dokimazein (δοκιμάζειν): To assay, test, or approve after rigorous examination (Phil 1:10).
- Doulos (δοῦλος): A bondservant or slave whose agenda is wholly set by his master (Phil 1:1).
- Epieikēs (ἐπιεικής): Reasonableness, gentleness, or forbearance; not insisting on the strict letter of one's legal rights (Phil 4:5).
- Kenosis (κένωσις): The self-emptying of Christ (Phil 2:7) accomplished by adding human nature, not subtracting deity.
- Koinōnia (κοινωνία): Deep spiritual fellowship, partnership, and common participation in the Gospel (Phil 1:5).
- Kyrios (κύριος): Lord, Master, or King; New Testament translation of the divine name YHWH.
- Logizomai (λογίζομαι): To ponder, calculate, engage, and reflect upon (Phil 4:8).
- Merism: A literary figure of speech contrasting two extremes to represent the whole (e.g., "brought low and abounding").
- Paraboleusamenos (παραβολευσάμενος): Risking one's life or gambling with safety for Christ's work (Phil 2:30).
- Phroneō (φρονέω): To set one's mind, ultimate affection, and orientation on something (Col 3:2, Phil 4:8).
- Phōstēres (φωστῆρες): Luminaries or stars shining brightly against a dark cosmic background (Phil 2:15).
- Politeuma (πολίτευμα): Citizenship or commonwealth; operating as a colony of heaven on earth (Phil 3:20).
- Pusillanimity: A moral vice of deficiency where a person falsely rejects gifts, puts themselves down, and shuns duty out of false humility.
- Skubala (σκύβαλα): Dung, rubbish, or refuse thrown to dogs (Phil 3:8).
- Tapeinophrosynē (ταπεινοφροσύνη): Lowliness of mind; biblical humility grounded in acknowledging creaturely dependence on God.
